Ever Changing Curriculum

Course information is at the heart of all the transfer information that ASSIST provides to students. Every college and university participating in ASSIST enters information about curriculum changes into ASSIST. It is this information that allows us to provide accurate articulation and transfer information to our users.

The majority of curriculum changes occur in the fall. The following course statistics are for the fall 2005 curriculum which shows just how dynamic the curriculum is at our public institutions:

- There are 124,592 active courses in ASSIST.
- 2,856 new transferable courses were added to ASSIST.
- 1,257 courses already in ASSIST changed names (prefix and/or number).
- 2,291 courses changed titles.
- 651 courses changed units.

All of these course additions and changes must be reviewed by articulation staff and have the potential, along with major requirement changes, to change existing articulation agreements.

This kind of activity is typical each year. Maintaining articulation agreements and staying on top of curriculum changes is a constant job. Our hope is that ASSIST continues to serve the articulation community in keeping up with these changes so that students can easily find the information they need to succeed in their college careers.
