ASSIST 2000 - 2001 Statewide Articulation Status Report

4/11/01

Draft of proposed format

Notes: a. While this report only includes information on 00-01 articulation agreements, most universities have extensive articulation available through ASSIST in prior years that remains important for transfer planning.

Columns: 1. Service Area Coverage: Service Area Colleges for each university campus are determined by the CSU Chancellor's Office or the UC Office of the President as appropriate.

2. Outside Service Area: Includes all California Community Colleges not in the campus's Service Area.

3. Number of Current 00-01 Agreements: The numerator represents the number of California Community Colleges in this group (Service Area or non-Service Area) with which each university has an articulation agreement in ASSIST covering 00-01. The denominator represents the number of colleges in the is group for each university.

4. Major Preparation Agreements: The numerator represents the median number of distinct majors within each articulation agreement for 00-01. The denominator represent the highest number of distinct majors articulated with any college in this group.

5. Discipline Based Agreements: The numerator represents the median number of distinct disciplines within each articulation agreement for 00-01. The denominator represent the highest number of distinct discipline articulated with any college in this group.

6. The notation n/a indicates that the university does not provide articulation in this format.

7. UCSF does not have service area colleges.
